DETAILED ACTION

This is the first action relating to serial application number 10/580,704 filed 5-25-2006.

Claims 1-7 are currently pending.

Priority

1. Receipt is acknowledged of papers submitted under 35 U.S.C. 119(a)-(d), which papers have been placed of record in the file.

Drawings

2. The examiner has accepted the drawing filed with this application as formal drawing.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 112

3. The following is a quotation of the second paragraph of 35 U.S.C. 112:

The specification shall conclude with one or more claims particularly pointing out and distinctly claiming the subject matter which the applicant regards as his invention.

4. Claims 5-7 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 112, second paragraph, as being indefinite for failing to particularly point out and distinctly claim the subject matter which applicant regards as the invention. In claims 5-7, the intended scope of the claim are unclear because the claims recites, An IC tagged sealing member, a core metal, an IC tag, an elastic element etc. These limitations are recited in claim 1. Therefore, it is not clear if the elements of claim 1 and claim 5 are the same. If they are the same, then there includes a double inclusion.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

5. The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(b) the invention was patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country or in public use or on sale in this country, more than one year prior to the date of application for patent in the United States.

6. Claims 1-7 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being anticipated by Binder (6,002,248). Binder discloses an IC tagged bearing device comprising a chip (6) embedded in an elastic bearing seal (5), that is delimited between the inner race and the outer race, wherein the IC chip (6) comprising a storing means (22) that is capable of performing communication on a non-contact basis. In addition, it is apparent the sealing (5) includes a metal core for preventing the collapse of the sealing material during operation.

In claim 2, note the elastic (5) material is made from rubber and the chip is fixedly bonded by vulcanization to the elastic element (see col. 5, lines 50-64).

In claims 5-6, Binder discloses the claimed invention above.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

7. The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

8. Claims 3, 4 and 7 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Binder in view of Rehfus et al. (6,501,382). Binder fails to disclose the sealing member is provided with a groove for accommodating the IC tag. Rehfus et al. discloses a bearing (12) comprising a bearing member (5) which may be metal or rubber, the bearing member has a groove (21) that accommodates an IC tag (28). Therefore, it would have been obvious to one of ordinary skill in the art at the time of the invention to modify the elastic element and core metal of Binder so that each includes a groove in view of Rehfus et al. in order to attach or remove the chip without damaging the bearing member or the chip.

9. Claims 3, 4 and 7 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Binder in view of Nachtigal et al. (6, 559,633). Binder fails to disclose the sealing member is provided with a groove for accommodating the IC tag. Nachtigal et al. discloses a bearing (100) comprising a bearing sealing member comprising a core metal (24) and an elastic member (50), each of the core metal and the elastic element has a groove that accommodates a sensor chip (30). Therefore, it would have been obvious to one of ordinary skill in the art at the time of the invention to modify the sealing member of Binder so that both the core metal and the elastic has a fitting groove and a position hole in view of Nachtigal et al. in order to prevent inadvertent movement of the chip due to vibration and rotation effect.
